

'I'M NO ECONOMIST'

That frequent cry allows freedom to theorists,
'Professional Economists' with no permeable boundaries,
to blindly devastate this sacred planet.
Every Professional should remain a jobbing polymath, an amateur,
that is, a lover of intrinsic, gifted planetary values.
Economists have formulated a system, closed, impenetrable to laity, ignoring many vital contributions to creation's harmonious whole.

Every human act is an evolutionary ecological element determining, in however small a part, the ordering of the planet's healthy flow.
As I sleep; the present order is affected by my negative intervention.
When I wake, to dress and feed; my effect slowly and minutely penetrates the way all life is trending as personal, societal and global energies materialise.

In sum, the present track of Academic Disciplines is fatally directed by selfish human, often blind, even unconscious, interventions.
Unless therefore, we knowingly respond in every situation,
as jobbing economists, one and all, creeping disaster comes.
Incarnation provides potential for each of us to contribute to life's gifted harmony, which some call the Kin[g]dom of God.
